TO TELEPHONE THE DEMOCRAT CALL
NO. 180.

THIS is Akron Day.

THE County Fair has the next call.

EVERYBODY'S in the band-wagon now except the politicians.

SPEAKING of parades, when were Akron people ever shown a finer procession than that of today?

STREET FAIR visitors shouldn't wait until the next fair before returning to Akron. You're just as welcome every day in the year if you want to come.

AKRON'S guests should make themselves at home. As Mayor Young said to the visitors on Opening day:
"The gates of the city have been thrown open and all things in it are yours."

IN TODAY'S DEMOCRAT is published an address by Gen. John Beatty, of Columbus, one of the best known independent Republicans in Ohio, telling why he cannot support the Administration's policy of Imperialism. It is worthy of careful reading.

THE DEMOCRAT publishes an illustration today of the new Hamilton block, now in course of erection at the corner of Mill and Main sts.
The block will be one of the finest in Northern Ohio. It will be a very valuable addition to Akron's business quarter.

GIVE THE MERCHANTS A REST.

The DEMOCRAT is informed that agents employed by the local Republican committee have been soliciting contributions from Akron's business men this week, to be used in paying a part of the expenses of the Hanna campaign opening at Akron a week hence.

Coming as it does at a time when the generosity of Akron's business men has been taxed to the utmost to meet the expenses of a great public entertainment given for the benefit of Akron, this suggestion that the businessmen ought also to help Mr. Hanna shoulder his campaign debts is more than insulting in its audacity.

Ever since Akron's public spirited merchants and manufacturers began their preparations for their Free Carnival and Street Fair several weeks ago, the promoters of the Hanna campaign opening have flouted their boasts and advertisements in the faces of the people. The politicians have lost no opportunity of impressing upon the people that

Arc You Neglecting Your Eyes?

Don't do it.
Have them examined by Dr. Finch,
Oculist,
Everett Building
Hours, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Sundays, 2 to 3 p.m.

the campaign opening, as compared to the Street Fair, would be an event of overshadowing importance. And now, as if to make their policy yet more unpopular, they are adding extortion to their practices, and are levying it upon the very men who would have suffered most had the Street Fair project proven a failure?

The hippodrome show to be given by Mr. Hanna next week will add nothing lasting to the welfare of Akron, and just why Akron's business men should be asked to give down into their pockets to pay for the red fire and brass band accompaniments is beyond our comprehension.

If the merchants and business men do as much for the politicians and their campaign opening as the politicians have done for Akron's Carnival and Street Fair—in which the business men were directly interested—the politicians will not have to hire a two-horse dray to cart their contributions to headquarters.

CHAIRMAN WERNER'S CONCLUSIONS.

In another column Chairman P. E.
Werner makes some interesting comments upon the marvelous success of Akron's Carnival and Street Fair.

"Upon the whole," says Chairman Werner, "the Fair has demonstrated that when the people of Akron are aroused to the proper standard, they do their duty magnificently. I have come in contact with many visitors and their praise is unbounded."

The suggestion that great public enterprises, such as the Street Fair, will help to attract attention to Akron and thus counteract "Cleveland's influence as regards retail trade over the people living in Akron," is a good one and the DEMOCRAT commends it to the local business men.

Some of Akron's leading merchants inform the DEMOCRAT that their stores have been visited by hundreds of strangers during the Fair, and that the visitors, whether they became purchasers or not, have invariably expressed their admiration of Akron's advantages as a trading center.

It is this widespread and effective advertisement of Akron which the Street Fair has served to bring about that will be of chief benefit to the city and the business men. This benefit quite overshadows the immediate returns from the Fair.

Every citizen of Akron should read and preserve Chairman Werner's address. His proposition that "Akron shall make the Free Fair and Carnival a regular annual institution to which the people of this part of the state may justly and interestingly look forward," will doubtless meet with very general approbation.

TOTAL DESTRUCTION.

Caused By Spark Falling on Roof of Farm House.

The house on the farm of Theodore Ley of Coventry township, three and a half miles south of Akron, occupied by the tenant on the farm, Jacob Bose, was destroyed by fire about 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. So rapidly did the flames consume the building that none of the household contents were saved. Besides other goods there were in the building 35 bushels of wheat and a lot of canned fruit. Total loss about $1,000. No insurance. The fire was caused by a spark falling on the roof.

Tonight the last performance of the season will be given in the Summit Lake Park Casino. The season that has just past has been a success in every manner. The plans for the new year will be forthcoming in one of our next week's issues.
